HAVAS REVIEW.

PARIS, Jan. 29.
A Havas message states: M. Stephen Pichon has resumed his journalistic labours as editor of the Petit Journal. It is recalled that M. Pichon began his newspaper career under M. Clemenceau's auspices on "Justice." M. Pichon's return to his old profession is signalled by his election to the Presidency of the Parisian Press Association. Headed by its president a party of members of the Paris Municipal Council arrived yesterday in London as guests of the London County Council, Ypres, Dixmude, Furnes and Neuport, the Belgian towns associated with the tragedy of the great war were decorated yesterday by M. Poincare. An important political meeting occurred between M. Poincare and M. Millerand, and Marshal Foch, King Albert, the Belgian Premier and the Minister of Foreign Affairs.

CHINESE TELEGRAMS.

(By arrangement with Wah Tze Yat Po.)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.

It was proposed at a meeting of students in Tientsin that all students should absent themselves from school until the alleged wrong done to the five injured students has been righted.

Speaking to one of the Shantung students Kan Wan Pang said "You and I are Shantung people. I have as much interest in Shantung as you have."

It is proposed to establish a University in Fungting Province. An organization fund amounting to $2,000,000 is now under consideration.

President Chu Sai Cheong in view of the North West frontier being threatened by Bolshevik forces proposes to despatch the expeditionary army, originally intended for Europe, to Kirin and Hinglung.

General Chu Shu Tsang spoke to Tun Ki Sui about the defensive question of the Northwest frontier and suggested that 4 battalions of his soldiers be increased to 4 divisions.

Luk Ching Cheung was reprimanded by Tun Ki Sui for the failure of his mission. Luk was also coldly received by the Cabinet.

There were about 7,000 students marching in front of the Foreign Office yesterday. They protested against direct negotiations with Japan and declared that if Chan Luk the Acting Minister for Foreign Affairs, undertakes direct negotiations, he should be punished by the public. They then went to Luk Ching Cheung's Office and threw several flags therein.

LORDS TO TRY A MURDER CASE.

THE FIRST TIME IN MODERN LEGAL HISTORY.

A murder case was to have come before the House of Lords for the first time in modern legal history on December 16.

It arose out of an appeal by the Crown against the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeal quashing the conviction for murder of Arthur Beard, who was found guilty at Chester Assizes on the capital charge and sentenced to death.

Beard was a night watchman at the Cartfield Mills, Hyde, in Lancashire, and was tried for the murder of the girl, aged thirteen, named Ivy Wood, who was strangled on July 25 under horrible conditions. He admitted he was drunk at the time.

The Court of Criminal Appeal upset the verdict of murder, reducing it to one of manslaughter, with a sentence of twenty years' penal servitude. The ground for this decision was that direction was not given the jury that drunkenness might so affect the mental condition of a man as to make him incapable of knowing that what he was doing was dangerous, i.e., likely to inflict serious injury.

It was stated at the Judicial Office of the House of Lords that their list showed that no previous murder charge had ever come before the Lords on an appeal. The convicted man, Beard, although in prison, would be advised of the hearing of the appeal in the ordinary way, and would, if he desired, have the right of personal attendance before the Lords to hear the legal arguments.

ANOTHER NEW DISEASE.

LONDON, January 30th.
There has been a serious outbreak of influenza among soldiers in an Aldershot camp. The disease is spreading in the town.

A Paris doctor asserts that both influenza and the new disease "lethargic encephalitis" (resembling sleeping sickness) are curable by the injection of a serum. He declares that the former is a plague attacking the nervous centres. Meanwhile experts are pointing out that the influenza germ has reappeared all the world over. Moreover, a new wave is about due.

The authorities are widely urging everyone to take precautionary measures. The Ministry of Health is distributing gratis influenza vaccine.

INFLUENZA IN THE STATES.

WASHINGTON, January 32nd.
Representatives have passed a resolution in the Congress for the appropriation of $300,000 to combat influenza.

AVIATION.

LONDON, January 30th.
The Times, in a leader on the Cairo Cape flight, says there is an intoxicating thrill in the mere thought of the possibility of such an enterprise. One of the first steps in the all-important undertaking of establishing regular air communication between the mother-country and the more distant parts of the Empire—the immediate problem for this country—is the speedy opening up of the new medium of travel along well-equipped air roads, such as the route from Cairo to the Cape and all over the Empire.

Africa is still a dark continent. The aeroplane is going to end all that. From the north, the south, the east and the west will light be let in, and some day we may look back on the first experimental flight from Cairo to the Cape as the beginning of a new and better order of things, not only for the Empire, knit together by a closer and clearer understanding, but for the whole world.

London, January 31st.
Regulations are published for the Daily Express aircraft flight between Great Britain and India and back for a prize of £10,000.

The entrants must carry a cargo of 15,000 lbs.
The dates fixed are between May 1st and October 31st, and the time allowed is 288 hours on the entire journey.

LARGE AIR LINERS.

LONDON, January 30th.
It is understood that prominent aviation firms are combining to establish a system of air liners to America, and possibly to South Africa.

The scheme has been discussed ever since Colonel Seely called a meeting of aircraft firms to consider the possibilities of commercial aviation. Since then pourparlers have taken place between such firms as Vickers, Armstrong Whitworths, Beardmore, and Shortt with a view to purchasing the existing Government aircraft and build others, to first run a service to Scandinavia and then farther afield.

It is proposed to build and acquire ships, of 3,500,000 cubic feet, with a cruising radius of 4,500 miles and capable of carrying a cargo of fifteen tons.

The Government ships are not adapted for passenger traffic. Therefore a considerable time must elapse before the scheme can be put into effect. Much experimental work is necessary in order to discover the most suitable types of machine. Expert circles doubt if ships of the above mentioned dimensions are sufficiently profitable, and suggest ships of 10,000,000 cubic feet.

THE PAISLEY BY-ELECTION.

LONDON, January 29th.
Mr. William Paul, whom the Paisley Socialists invited to stand, has declined the invitation.

London, January 30th.
The polling at Paisley is on February 13th, and the counting on February 25th.

AMERICA'S LOANS TO THE ALLIES.

WASHINGTON, January 30th.
According to a Treasury statement, the accrued interest of the American loans to European countries now approximate $325,000,000.

The Treasury proposes to defer the collection of interest pending reconstruction in ex-belligerent countries. Britain owes $14,441,000 and France $94,022,000.

WORLD'S ECONOMIC RESTORATION.

WASHINGTON, January 30th.
Mr. Glass, Secretary of the Treasury, in a statement, declares that the Treasury is convinced that the credits required for economic restoration must be supplied through private channels, and opposes further Governmental loans and the cancellation of any obligations by the European Governments. He declares that the recognition of exchanges lies primarily in the hands of the European Governments whose refusal to export gold prevents restoration. The United States cannot undertake to finance the requirements of Europe.

Mr. Glass states his objections to the proposed international conference. He fears that if such a conference were held many European Governments would, unjustifiably, assume that the United States is going to shoulder their burden. He does not object to American Chambers of Commerce sending representatives if they desire to attend an unofficial conference, provided that they do not declare that the United States Government taking action is recognized beforehand.

88,000 CHILDREN.

Between 50 and 60 years ago, a young medical student took upon himself to open a small night-school in the heart of Stepney. His schoolroom was an old disused donkey-shed, his scholars the ragged riff-raff of the East End, and in teaching those urchins of his their lessons, he contrived unexpectedly to learn his own.

Thus a small outcast lingering by the fire in a Stepney shed—a seemingly chance word—a question—the desire to verify its answer—one night's experience—and the consequent conception of a work destined to help in half a century over 88,000 destitute children.

The Barnardo family to-day numbers 7,291 boys and girls, and 30 others are admitted every week from the ranks of child-destitution and misery all over the country.

The Homes are lifting the children out of the slums and giving them a good environment so that they may take their places in the world as healthy, upright, honourable, and God-fearing citizens.

The children are the Nation's, and indeed the Empire's, greatest asset. No destitute little one seeks aid in vain. Dr. Barnardo's Homes have no waiting list: no votes are required: there is no red tape.

88,607 children have passed through the Ever-Open Doors in the past half-century—8,470 since war broke out. What would have become of these children but for Barnardo's?

In a booklet which has reached us dealing with this work, the artist has pictured the Homes as a Magician's Palace with two big open doors. To one comes a ceaseless stream of destitute little ones; from the other—a stream goes out of healthy, happy lads and lasses trained for the battle of life.

But the Magician needs his wand, and the wand is Funds. Will you supply the funds to enable the Homes to give help to every destitute child who needs it?

The Homes are relying upon their Christmas Appeal to maintain the children during the Winter. For 10s. you can have the joy of feeling that you are feeding one destitute child for ten days.

Contributions may be sent to the Honorary Director, Mr. William Baker, M.A., LL.B., Dr. Barnardo's Homes, 18 to 26, Stepney Causeway, London, E.1. Cheques and Orders payable "Dr. Barnardo's Homes Food Bill Fund," and crossed. (Treasury Notes should be Registered.)

"TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE."

HONGKONG, TUESDAY, FEB. 8, 1920.

TRUTH.

"Truth, justice, public service." That is the daily reminder which the Editor of the China Mail prints at the head of this column as a guide for his contributory writers. Does he really mean it? Within reason, within reason, he says, impatiently, when the Fourth Leader writes to him to be as candid as a fig in a barrel of molasses. And he waves a lordly hand, grabs a pencil as blue as a winning post, and in two strokes robs Hongkong of a sensation that would make 'em talk for nine days, and probably put him in jail for nine months. There is a difference between the truth and the whole truth, or why would the Courts have the well known formula for the adjudication of witnesses? The papers must not tell the whole truth, or where would we be? That is all right, and can pass. Some of them don't seem to worry about fragments of it. We have just noted in a Home paper several inches of matter with a double headline, purporting to tell "how a Britisher bluffed the Bolsheviks." It was told—let us be careful, and say it is reported to have been told—at the Victory dinner of the Gaelic Society of London by Sir William Sutherland MP. An Englishman got aboard a train at Budapest. Bela Kun's Bolsheviks asked him questions. He had no passport, and a friend with him told them to "buzz off." These words made a great impression. They posted a notice on the window, and locked the carriage door. The notice said: "This compartment is reserved for Count Buzzoff." One wonders why the Bolsheviks should have treated a mere count politely. One wonders at the credulity of the Pressmen who print and reprint these fairytales. There isn't, of course, a word of truth in it. It is a poor echo of that war chestnut about the lady who remarked to the matron on the number of Russians in a certain hospital. "We have no Russians," said the matron. "Oh, but you have," said the lady. "Just now I asked that one what his name was, and he answered 'Buzoffewrench.'" (We have, in spite of our respect for Truth, taken the liberty of camouflaging slightly the patient's idiom.) Well, such farfetched tales are harmless enough; but many other newspaper lies are not. We have exposed several lies about Bolshevik atrocities, which the papers who printed them never troubled to retract. Now at last we have seen an official retraction of a lie that has gone the rounds about Germany's secret army. Watch the other China coast papers, and you won't see any of them publish the retraction, though they have reprinted the lie. Winston Churchill himself in the House of Commons has denied that there is any truth in those stories of Germany's hidden armies. Sir Frederick Maurice not only said they were not true; he added that they could not be true. Germany has no army to speak of, says our one and only War Lord Winston, on the very day that Parliament gets Army Estimates showing our army outfit for the current year to be £405,000,000.

ADVERSARIA.

POETRY. One of our local poets wonders why we have "ceased to publish any more poems" in the China Mail. We cannot very well publish any more until some more come in. Apparently the holidays upset the divine affluents and sickened the Muse. The only thing resembling a poem we have seen for some time was labelled "A Ballade of Tripe," and Trotsky got that. To-day, to show that we have no serious dislike of poetry, we retrieve from our WPB two joyous jingles by Brother Hill.

PROSE. The same gentleman feigns us with an essay about his bed. He says it has eight sides, six of which are equal to their opposites. The other two are not, being the inside and the outside. As he quotes Oliver Lodge we suspect he wants to pull the legs of our readers, which cannot be permitted. Those legs are sacred. The bed "has legs, but never uses them," says he, which is surely a "strange error." It uses them all the time; they perpetually carry its weight. He might just as well say it "has castors," but never takes castors! Although it contains the brains of all the world, he says, it has no brain, yet it has legs; and although it has four legs it has only one foot. He guesses it must be a Mason, "because it is on the square" and keeps its secrets. All of which makes us think he ought to go back to it, or look under it, or something.

During November LEGAL ROBBERY, the Bank of England rate was increased to six per cent. That makes the Government's borrowings more expensive, and as the Coalition Gang are the most reckless borrowers we ever had, the unfortunate taxpayer is bound to get a compound fracture of the prosperous bone, and phylacterical conjunctivitis of the purse. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, the gifted Austen Chamberlain, who certainly would never be trusted to run a branch of the Chartered Bank, says nothing matters very much so long as credit inflation is reduced and an effective gold standard restored. That, you will observe, is the precise equivalent of saying that it doesn't matter if the patient being dangerously ill if he would only get better. The simple fact is that as things are there can be no deflation of credit, for currency notes are still being issued, and they are credit's prime inflators. The obstacle to the other thing, the getting back to a gold basis, is that those nations with whom our trade balance is favourable show a shy reluctance to part with their gold. We had to pour gold over them during the war (or it was said we must) in order to "adjust" exchange; and the "adjustment" is still as much in view as a patch on a prominent part of a man's clothes when he is stooping to pick up a pingpong ball. The increased Bank rate would be meant to re-attract gold. It didn't.

After four days of un- THE FLU. seasonable warmth, culminating yesterday with an apparent temperature that led people to adopt lighter clothing, open windows, etc., today began with a distinctly "parky" feel, and mufflers and heavy coats reappeared. The day also began with a cablegram announcing that influenza is rife all over the world again. It is almost more trouble to keep alive these days than it is worth.

Lloyd's Weekly noticed WOEYER? in John Bull a statement about Hongkong's requirements in the line of outpoken journalism, and commented as follows:—"There is a great deal of truth in what the anonymous contributor says as to the needs of the Crown Colony. The Government system has been a farce for years, monopolies rule the place, a few individuals have cornered everything, the Chinese are only permitted to live there and pay, many of the officials have done remarkably well during the war—some of them being credited with the collection of three, four and even five salaries a month. No government by the people. Officialdom. There is only one man in Hongkong who could and would lash out at things and individuals there. He is a newspaper man, too. Name in confidence."

After all, Hongkong is WHERE a most delightful place HONGKONG to live in. Newspapers SCORES seem always bound to present the dark side. News is scandal and evil; "no news is good news." They give you stories of armed robbers, armed microbes and germs, crimes and robberies, house shortage, rice shortage. They tell you the worst. And all the while Hongkong has a marvellous capacity for joy, which is your true wealth. We do, all of us, seem to live joyously.

LLOYD GEORGE. Lloyd George has a "bad Press" for his Manchester speech. He seems to have shown his hand fairly plainly. He wants to hold office, no matter with what support. Defending the Coalition, he asked how the country was to be governed unless somebody coalesced. "You cannot govern except by a Parliamentary majority, and I cannot see a Parliamentary majority unless some Party is going to coalesce with some other Party. If you coalesce with some Party, it means that you join forces with some Party of a part of whose political creed you profoundly disapprove, exactly as they disapprove of a part of yours." That sounds very sensible, and if he had stopped there, he might have been difficult to answer. But he went on talking, forgot that argument altogether, and went on to say that a coalition with Labour was "impossible" unless they agreed "with everything in the Labour party." "Do we agree with everything in the Labour party?" he demanded. They are now very naturally asking if Lloyd George agrees with everything in the Tory party.

A new book of old OUTSPOKEN essays by Dean Inge (Longmans, six bob) is entitled "Outspoken Essays." The title is quite good. We desire to show more restraint in praising the contents. For example, He says, "To all appearance man has still a great part of his long life before him, and there is no reason to suppose that the future will be less productive of moral and spiritual triumphs than the past." It couldn't, you know, very well be less. That was the headline over a China Mail story yesterday, a story that told how a Chinese woman was fined $10, with the option of 21 days in jail, for the unlawful possession of a hammer head. No other owner could be found. The piece of iron bore the letters M. D. D. C. Ltd., they said. Was it that perhaps MDCCL, annus 1750? In that case the original owner has no further use for it. The woman told a not utterly unbelievable story of where she found it. Ten dollars or 21 days for ten cents worth of ownerless iron seems not quite.

Messrs. Macmillan & Co., Ltd., have in preparation a Dictionary of Applied Physics, to be issued probably in four volumes, under the editorship of Sir Richard Glazebrook, who will have the assistance of a number of distinguished contributors. The work is intended to include the range of physical science in its application to engineering and manufacture; it will cover, therefore, a wide ground, and needs the co-operation of many writers. It should appeal to many workers, for the fact that scientific investigation and inquiry form the foundations of new methods of manufacture and are required before any marked advance is possible, is now very fully realised. It is hoped, in the various sections of the Dictionary, not only to supply up-to-date information as to what has been done in the past, but also to give some indication of pioneering directions for further progress. The present is a suitable time for such a work; new industries are springing up, old industries are being reconstructed, and there are few which do not involve some process or processes based on the discoveries of physics. Pure science, as the president of the Royal Society stated some little time back, may cause a revolution in an industry. It will be the object of the Dictionary to indicate in a concise form the application of the most recent advances of physics to trade and manufacture.

His identity has not been established, and it is not known whether it was a suicide case or an accident.

REMINISCENCES OF CHINA.

LORD FISHER'S "RECORDS."

Lord Fisher is now publishing some "Records" in The Times, and in them he tells us—My first chance came when Admiral Hope sent me to command a vessel in Chinese waters on special service. His motto was "Favouritism is the secret of efficiency," and though I was only 19 he put me over the heads of many older men because he believed that I should do what I was told to do, and carry out the orders of the Admiral regardless of consequences. And so I did, although I made all sorts of mistakes and nearly lost the ship. When I came back everyone seemed to expect that I should be tried by Court Martial; but the Admiral only cared that I had done what he wanted done; and then he gave me command of another vessel.

Lord Fisher gives an interesting reminiscence concerning one of the first of his captains, who was the seventh son of the last Vice-Chancellor of England, Sir Lancelot Shadwell. He writes—Shadwell's appearance on going into a fight I must describe. We were up a Chinese river to capture a pirate stronghold. Presently, the pirates opened fire from a banana plantation on the river bank. We nipped ashore from the boats to the banana plantation. I remember I was armed to the teeth, like a Greek brigand, all swords and pistols, and was weighed down with my weapons. We took shelter in the banana plantation, but our Captain stood on the river bank. I shall never forget it. He was dressed in a pair of white trousers, yellow waistcoat, and a blue tail coat, with brass buttons and a tall white hat with a gold stripe up the side of it, and he was waving a white umbrella to encourage us to come out of the bananas and go on to the enemy. He had no weapon of any sort. So I think rather against our inclinations, as the galling bullets were flying about pretty thick, we all had to come out and go for the Chinese. Once the Chinese were lying at us, and as the shells whizzed over the boat we all ducked, and proceeded to explain very deliberately how ducking delayed the progress of the boat—apparently unaware that his lecture had stopped its progress altogether!

THE MAGIC KISS

When waking, sleeping, or in dreams
Thy face I see,
Do'st haunt me always—so it seems,
So must it be.
Those wondrous eyes, so blue and deep,
They search me through:
And ask me oft that question sweet—
Will you be true?
Those lips—shaped like an Angel's kiss—
I long to feel:
That one great thrill of perfect bliss
That seems so real.
When thou dost let me, pretty Miss,
Just one kiss steal—
'Tis heaven such times as this,
And all wounds heal.
—WILLIAM HILL.

MOTOR FATALITY.

A DIVIDED VERDICT.

Before Mr. J. R. Wood, in his capacity as Coroner, and a jury composed of Messrs. C.H.W. Kew, D.J. Murphy and J. F. de Souza, late yesterday afternoon, the hearing was concluded in connection with the enquiry held into the circumstances attending the death of a Chinese who was knocked down in Praya East on January 22, by motor car No. 241, owned by Mr. A.M.L. Soares.

After Dr. Scott had given evidence as to the nature of the injuries, and a Chinese had given evidence of identification, another witness gave evidence and said he was in a timber yard, when he was called by one of his foks. He went out into the road, and there saw the deceased lying in the middle of the road, in an unconscious condition. There was a motor car standing nearby. Assisted by his foks, witness removed the deceased to the side of the road. When the deceased recovered consciousness, he refused stubbornly to go to hospital, and called in a Chinese doctor to attend him. He died on the following morning. He was a foki of the timber yard, and was, with the assistance of another foki, carrying a plank measuring about 25 feet long to a neighbouring timber yard at the time of the accident.

The boy who helped the deceased to carry the plank, gave corroborative evidence.

Miss Edith Soares then went into the witness box, and said she was on her way to the French Convent School at Causeway Bay in motor car No. 241 on the morning in question, when the accident occurred. The deceased and another boy, who were carrying, between them, a long plank, stopped in the middle of the road, as the car approached them. The chauffeur moderated the speed of the car, and sounding his horn was in the act of passing them, when they ran forward, and the collision occurred.

The chauffeur stated in his evidence, which corroborated what Miss Soares had said, that he slowed down the car when he got near the deceased. The latter ran in front of the car, and the collision took place. He was travelling at about 10 miles an hour before the accident. He first saw the deceased when he was about two feet away from the car. He did his best to avert the collision by applying the brakes to the car. Had the deceased stopped running, there would have been no collision.

After the Coroner had reviewed the evidence, the jury deliberated for a few minutes and then Mr. Kew announced that two of the jurors were of opinion that there was a certain amount of negligence which, however, did not amount to gross negligence, on the part of the chauffeur. The other juror opined that the chauffeur had exercised all possible care to avert the unfortunate accident.

His Worship accepted the divided verdict, and thanking the jurors, discharged them.

A BROTHEL THIEF.

Before Mr. J. R. Wood this morning, a Chinese youth was charged with the theft from a brothel at No. 20, Temple Street, Taumati, of a blanket. He pleaded "not guilty."

One of the inmates of the brothel said that at about 6.20 a.m. she was returning to her cubic from the kitchen, when she saw two people going down the stairs. She took no notice. When she got into her cubic, however, she found that her blanket was missing. She ran down to the street but could not see anyone. Whilst she was in the street, she heard someone in the house call out "thief." She ran back to the brothel, and in the cubic adjoining hers, she found the defendant hiding under the bed. She handed him over to the Police, who came in answer to the alarm.

After a Chinese constable had deposed to taking the defendant into custody, the latter said he went to the brothel to look for a friend. He admitted being in the cubic, but he was not hiding under the bed. He knew nothing about the "stolen blanket."

His Worship altered the charge to one of being on the premises for the purpose of committing a larceny, and sentenced the defendant to one month's hard labour.

ARMED FOOTPAD.

A highway robbery is reported by a cook employed on board the s.s. "Hopsage," who alleges that whilst he was walking along Aberdeen Street at about 8 p.m., yesterday, he was attacked by an armed man at the junction with Gough Street, and relieved of $98 in bank notes. The Police are making investigations, but no arrest has yet been made.

ARMED ROBBERY.

MISCREANTS GET CLEAR AWAY.

An armed robbery is reported to have taken place on the first floor of No. 184, Des Voeux Road, at about 7.45 p.m., yesterday. The premises are occupied by the Hop Wo firm, dealers in shark fins. Four men gained admittance to the premises under the pretext that they wanted to see the master of the shop. Once in the premises, two of them produced revolvers, and the other two, and with these they terrorized the master and his foks, threatening to shoot them if they raised an alarm. Whilst two men guarded the terror-stricken inmates of the shop, the other two ransacked the place and breaking open two boxes, they extracted $1,100 in notes. A fifth man, who was armed with a dagger, stood on guard on the staircase whilst his confederates ransacked the premises. He was accosted on the staircase by a foki of the neighbouring shop, who suspecting that every thing was not all right next door, went over to investigate. Being unarmed, this man was handicapped in his fight with the guard, but nevertheless, he grappled with him pluckily, and in the course of the struggle, he was stabbed in the back by the other man. He raised an alarm, and the robbers decamped. When the Police arrived, the wounded man was removed to the hospital. His condition is not considered serious. The robbers who got away immediately after the alarm was given, made good their escape. Although the Police are making investigations, they are handicapped by the absence of clues. No arrests have been made. They don't even know which way the robbers went.

A SHIPPING ACTION.

FORECLOSURE ON A MORTGAGE.

In the Supreme Court this morning before the Chief Justice, Sir William Rees-Davies, K.C., a case was heard in which the China Hong Nin Life Insurance Company, Ltd., and Li Ling Ku, claimed $144,910.85 from the s.s. "Mo Hon" on a mortgage for principal, interest, payment of wages and insurance.

Mr. C. G. Alabaster, O.B.E., instructed by Mr. A. E. Hall, appeared for plaintiffs, the action being heard ex parte.

His Lordship, on taking his seat, remarked: "I am glad to see you were not wrecked, Mr. Alabaster."

Mr. Alabaster: I was in a thick fog. His Lordship: I am told you were in the perils of the deep.

Mr. Alabaster: I was on the deep. This arose out of Mr. Alabaster being unable to attend Court yesterday owing to his being fog-bound.

Opening his case Mr. Alabaster said this was an Admiralty action for the closure of a mortgage on a ship for the non-payment of the principal sum, interest and certain expenses to which the mortgages had been put. There had been no appearance and an order was obtained on January 9 for the case to be proceeded with ex parte. On December 1918 a mortgage was entered into between plaintiff and the owners of the ship, under which they were to pay $60,000 down and any further sums as required, the whole not to exceed $150,000. The whole amount was not required and the mortgages advanced the sum of $130,000. There were receipts for the various amounts advanced. One month's notice had to be given before the mortgage was called in and this had been done. Since the plaintiffs had taken possession of the ship they had incurred expenses for upkeep.

The second plaintiff went into the box and said the owner of the ship had absconded. As to the disposition of the ship witness said plaintiffs desired it to be sold by public auction. His Lordship observed that Mr. Alabaster would have great difficulty in persuading him to make any other order.

Judgment was entered for plaintiffs and an order was made for the ship to be sold by public-auction.

SHANGHAI OPINION CASE.

The Judge at Shanghai, in discharging Constable Allen (charged with a big theft of opium) said: "Allen, I am glad to be able to discharge you, and though it is entirely contrary to my usual practice, I wish to express my concurrence in the verdict of the jury. I do so because your position is one of great difficulty in view of your being in the police; and I think that the opinion of one who has listened very carefully to the evidence and given it very anxious consideration should be expressed on such an occasion. I don't think it is necessary for me to warn you against foolishness in the future; but I do so shortly, because I feel that for your good and I have said it in case by any chance it should be needed. I don't believe it is, and I trust you will be able to hold up your head as an old soldier who has distinguished himself and that the verdict of the jury will enable you to resume your duty as a police officer, and I trust you will be successful in your calling."

Yet after that Allen was discharged from the Police Force.

DEATH.

SPERIERS.—At the Government Civil Hospital, on February 2, 1920, Alfred William Percival Spier (late of Davis & Co.), aged 33. Funeral will pass the Monument at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

ARM'S CASE.

One of two armed Chinese arrested by Sergeants Cockle and McFall in and opium divan in Praya East, and charged with the unlawful possession of arms and ammunition, and with attempting to resist lawful arrest, was again before Mr. J. R. Wood this morning.

Addressing the prisoner, his Worship said: You are charged on two counts (1) possession of a revolver and ammunition without permission, and (2) attempting to resist lawful arrest. I have decided to deal with your case myself, and do not propose to send you to the Supreme Court. Have you anything to say before sentence is passed?

Prisoner: I did not offer any resistance to the Police. I did not struggle.

His Worship: I will not convict you on the second charge, but I convict you of unlawfully having in your possession a revolver and five rounds of ammunition. I sentence you to 12 months' hard labour. The arms and ammunition are to be confiscated.

METHODIST CHURCH.

EPISCOPALIANS GET INCREASE.

In consequence of the high cost of living, missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church in China have received a substantial increase of from $200 to $250 a year in respect of their annual remuneration, according to a cablegram received by the local office of the Church. The increase took effect from January 1. It is regarded as a prelude to a general missionary reform of the slender family allowance hitherto granted. That the M. E. Church, North, has been the first to take the step is explained by that Church's success in the recent American Centenary campaign.

Both the M. E. Church, North, and the M. E. Church, South, it is understood, were beneficiaries of that effort. The amount subscribed for all missions was a little less than $120,000,000; that for the South, $55,000,000. It is expected to be but a short time before the M. E. Church, South, readjusts salaries in China to provide for the increasing cost of living.

According to the cablegram, the yearly meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Board, held recently, made the first appropriation of the Centenary funds. It voted $4,600,000 for all its mission fields, an amount that doubles the budget of last year. China is one of seven major mission districts. They are listed, South America, Africa, Europe, Japan, Korea, China, Malaysia. Precisely how much was assigned to China is not disclosed.

The $400,000,000 is not however, the absolute limit placed upon expenditures for the year 1920. The amount may be doubled, according to the vote of the Board, if the receipts of the money pledged warrant. The total amount subscribed was for a five-year period. Enough has already been paid in to justify the first figure, and it is regarded as more than probable that the larger amount will be made available for this year.

The tabulation of living costs in China and the amount of increase necessary had not been completed by the Methodist officers when the announcement was received. It had been expected that this month the suggested figure for an increase would be sent. The prompt action of the home Board has apparently made that step unnecessary as the increase is said to be fully as much as would have been asked.

LAST NIGHT'S BILLIARD MATCH.

WON BY PITT'S CRAFT.

"Tom" Pitt beat Lieut. Golding last night at Oxberry's. 500—202. This will surprise many who foretold the ex-champion's defeat, believing that he can no longer play high-class billiards. This is largely true. Pitt is off his game, measured by his own old form. But he still has ring craft. He "rattled" his younger opponent last night by potting the white frequently, and leaving both balls in balk.

At the last, when leading by 200, and wanting only two to win, he refused an easy pot of the white and played an all-round cannon, the old humbug remarking audibly, "I don't play dirty." That made a great hit, even Lieut. Golding smiling. The game had no big breaks. Pitt's longest run was 34, Golding's 23.

THE QUINTESSENCE OF JAZZ.

COLOURED AND CONVULSED MUSICIANS.

The conventional musician sniffs and says "Barbarous" who for weeks past have attracted Londoners to the Philharmonic Hall really cannot be so lightly dismissed. Decidedly you do not go to the Synopated Orchestra for the sort of music that "soothes a savage breast." The vogue has long ceased to be for soothing music. Converse would not have coined that phrase of his in present-day London.

The vogue is for the music that will awake savagery in the civilised breast. And this is wherein the coloured musicians—shining, beaming, gesticulating, and swaying to and fro as if intoxicated with their own sounds—do succeed. Their means to this success are, pace the conventional musician, interesting. It is, to start with, such thoroughly spontaneous music—you can see as they perform how they love it, and enjoyment is infectious.

FRENZIED ENJOYMENT.

Their enjoyment easily takes a frenzied turn, and that is rare enough sensation for the civilised breast. At the height of one of their "rags" the stage offers a wild scene of swaying figures and convulsed countenances. The percussion beats out the characteristic synopated dance-rhythm. Cornets and trombones drawl in parlamento, and the mellow in your spine curls as you have a momentary glimpse of dionysiac passions deep down in your respectable and disciplined soul.

It must be real music to make such effect, though so far from that of the conventional musician—so very far from these frigid Concertos and interminable Variations that seldom evoke anything more dionysiac than a yawn. Horrible it may often be but it is genuine art. Though they play with the complicated toys of civilisation—piano, saxophone, and the rest—their music is genuinely their own self-expression. They can be thoroughly bad and boring as when they swoon over Viennese waltzes. On their own ground they are consummate.

BRUTAL RHYTHM.

Their own ground is primitive, brutal rhythm, deftly caught and hammered out with extraordinary verve by half a dozen percussive instruments. "In the beginning was Rhythm." Over-civilised music is apt to grow bloodless as it loses touch with primitive enjoyment in dance and song, and has need to return for vitality to the brutality of primitive rhythm and the pathos of primitive song. Half a century ago the triangle in Liszt's piano concerto scandalised the musical world. It is good to have scandals in the musical world; and the beaming black drummer "Buddie" with his dionysiac piece, "The Quintessence of Jazz" may quite conceivably leave his mark on our serious composers.

The expressive singing of these good folks is less exciting, but still more original. They have one subtle resource of which many a modern composer has dreamed. It is a development of the pathetic "scoop" of our sentimental singers. But these coloured singers seem to use the device regularly and designedly. It amounts to a use of intervals not varied than can be expressed by our notation. Miss Lottie Gee employs it with pathos in "Could I hear Nobody Pray," and the instrumentalists (clarinet, cornet, and trombone) have a similar way of drooping from the pitch in a pathetic phrase. The Philharmonic audience can share in the primitive frenzy of the "rags" but the natives of the Negro "spirituals"—which are a quaint mixture of hymns and comic songs—is beyond them. It is rather a shame and rather a supidity to laugh. "It's me, O Lord," and the rest of these pieces are part of a primitive folk's faith.

HARD ON THE CHILDREN.

The changes of season are trying periods for babies and young children. With one day warm and bright and the next day wet and chilly the little ones are especially liable to colds, cramps, and colic.

It is of great importance at these dangerous seasons to look after the baby's stomach, neglect being so liable to lead to serious results. The diet must be kept regular, if the little one's health and progress are to be safeguarded, and for this purpose there is nothing so good as Fehly's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. These pleasant-tasting little Tablets sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds, and make baby thrive. They are guaranteed and this guarantee is backed by a Government Analyst's certificate—no combination of the slightest particles of opiate, narcotic, or other injurious drug, and to be equally harmless and helpful to the youngest infant as to the child of 8 years old and more. Baby's Own Tablets have been successfully used for years in Canada, the United States and elsewhere as a remedy for infantile indigestion, colic, constipation, simple fever, diarrhoea, colds and worms. They make teething easy, quickly bring natural cooling sleep to pain-racked infants, prove their efficacy from the first dose. Obtainable from chemists; also from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 98 Bechohne Road, Shanghai, at 60 cents the retail price.

CASUAL NOTES.

[By "THE TRAMP"]

The new Volunteer Ordinance just introduced in the Legislative Council has been discussed in more than one male circle for mutual improvement. Generally a thin opinion favours the measure especially in so far as joining has been left purely a matter of personal inclination, but naturally there are certain points in it that require a little more explanation. Some prospective volunteers have expressed disagreement with the clause calling for three years' service and are inclined to look upon it, in conjunction with the penalty that is imposed for resignation, as something in the light of a magisterial sentence of "three years, with the option of a fine." The introduction into the Bill of this clause seems, to rob it of some of the "voluntary" spirit it was hoped would be emphasised. Of course a man may join or not, just as he pleases, but it would certainly be hard if any were kept out because they did not feel justified in binding themselves down for such a lengthy period. A volunteer would doubtless like to feel himself more of a free agent in the matter. He joins voluntarily and would like the same consideration to hold when the time comes for his resignation to be considered.

On the other hand is the undoubted desire of the authorities to get together a body of well trained men, which can be relied upon in an emergency and it is well known this object would never be achieved with a constant chopping and changing about. They naturally feel that some sort of a hold is necessary. If that was in the minds of the framers of the Ordinance I think they rather overlooked the point that the men who respond to the call will be those who are really keen on volunteering work. Those who are "fed up" after their war time experiences in the Defence Corps will naturally drop out. Their equipment will be handed in and their "military careers" finished, but the members of the new corps will be, and I hope experience will prove it, men who will serve in the Corps as long as they are able to do so without the authorities trying to bind them to a definite period. A man will naturally know his own business best and if he thinks it desirable that he should retire then he should be allowed to do so without more ado.

As for the sum to be paid on retirement (if the excuse is not thought to be good enough), or upon dismissal, there has been some mild sarcasm. To the argument that it is for the cost of their equipment there is the reply that officers are allowed a sum not exceeding $200 for their gear. Who is to pay that. Naturally the taxpayer. If he can pay for the officer, he can pay for the man. If anyone should buy clothes it should be the officer, for his is certainly the smarter equipment and besides he gets all those cumshaw salaries, which are surely worth something. In the case of an officer failing to become proficient within a year or resigning within two years he has to refund the whole or part of this allowance, but there is nothing in the Ordinance which says he shall pay any of his own money for the privilege of throwing his hand in.

However these points may be overlooked in comparison with the idea that the thing is voluntary and no attempt has been made to sneak in with conscription. That at any rate is something to be thankful for. I am glad to see that a machine gun company is to be included in the new corps. This formed part of the old Volunteer Corps and its members had much interesting work. If some of the latest guns can be obtained for their use the machine gunners should come in for a good time. Old gunners may remember the time they let rip over a general's head but that is altogether another story. I wonder if khaki kits will fetch the Scotties?

Flu, like the high dollar, is still with us and there seems but little likelihood of either going down for a bit. There is apparently no scare with regard to the former and the injunctions from our worthy M.O.H. to keep out of crowds were certainly overlooked at the Engineers' Ball. The floors were quite crowded enough and this in spite of pamphlets and serious warnings in the newspapers. In addition to this the weird appearance of the crews of the Japanese warships who came ashore wearing protective masks, far from causing anxiety and the remark of "There you see how bad it's getting," simply occasioned a little merriment. It's good to laugh these days.

H.E. the Governor got serious at the Victoria British School speech day, after giving the assembly due warning of the fact. He then went on to urge parents to keep their children at school as long as possible. His remarks seemed to indicate that the reasons which exist at home for removing a boy from school in order that he may contribute his quota towards the upkeep of the home are not present here. In many cases perhaps they do not apply, but I think there are many homes in which the small wage a boy leaving school can earn is a welcome addition to the family exchequer. It may be admitted at once that to take a boy away from school too early does not give him a fair chance in life against his more fortunate brethren, but in these days of high prices and still higher rents—well, there is an old tag about the devil driving.

Those whose duty it is to frame our laws and generally see after our welfare had quite a busy time last week and succeeded in making a bit of a commotion about the military establishments. It's no good saying it's a crying shame that the military should sit tight on some of the best sites in the middle of the city. That's been said before and will be said many a time again before they evacuate their present position. If the people of the Colony could have a vote on the matter it's pretty certain that the military would get their marching orders and would have to hand over that desirable piece of land running from Queen's Road up to Kennedy Road. But supposing we got it, who's going to build? It's too much to expect the Government to do so, because Fanning may soon require another top dressing or a new road will have to be cut somewhere. At any rate the matter is to go home, so we can sleep for three years and then wake up and see what has been done in the matter. I am open to bet that the matter will by then have received consideration.

ADMIRAL KOLCHAK'S EXTE.

LONDON, January 29th. The Times correspondent at Harbin says it is established that the French general Janin, sent from France in 1919 and who was placed by Admiral Kolchak in command of all the troops west of Arkutsk, has authorized the surrender of Admiral Kolchak by Cichovskovsk to the Soviet revolutionaries. This news caused a sensation. Janin was challenged to a duel by a General, some of French General's officers have refused to do so, and he has been ordered to leave his post. The French claim that the choice lay between the surrender of one man and complete annihilation of the Czech forces. Local Bolsheviks have occupied Nikolai where 300 Japanese and 1,000 Chinese at Biagovskensk are also in the hands of the revolutionaries.

LONDON, January 29th. The French Government has telegraphically instructed the Allied High Commissioner in Siberia to endeavour to obtain Admiral Kolchak's release.

WHOLE SIBERIA BECOMING BOLSHEVIST.

LONDON, January 30th. The Times Harbin correspondent in a message of January 29th says: "The Czechs, totalling about 15,000 and spread out on the railway from Irkutsk westward for 400 miles, are in the most precarious position owing to the whole country being Bolshevik, while the railway line, though under the Czechs' control, is damaged in innumerable places, and workmen are refusing to do the necessary repairs. The Bolshevik headquarters at Tomsk offered the Czechs repatriation across Russia on condition that they surrender Kolchak with the gold treasure and military supplies. The Czechs handed over Kolchak, but hold the gold which the Bolsheviks have sworn never to let pass east of Baikal. The Polish Division, numbering 3,000, maintained the officers and went over to the Bolsheviks, while Semenov's force has been reduced by desertion to 4,000 Cossacks. Large numbers of his Austro-German soldiers have also joined the Bolsheviks, who are, everywhere, setting the upper hand, and practically the whole population of Siberia is ready to accept Bolshevism."

TROOPS GO OVER TO BOLSHEVISM.

LONDON, January 30th. The Times Harbin correspondent telegraphs under date January 29th: "The Japanese and Bolshevik commanders met at Nikolai, and arranged that the former control the railway station, and the latter the workshops of the town. After a brief fight on January 25th the majority of the Government troops went over to the Bolsheviks. The remnant is retreating on the Manchurian border."

END OF SEMENOFF'S TROOPS.

BOLSHEVIST AMBASSADOR TO AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. Mr. Mariens, the so-called Bolshevik Ambassador to the United States, informed the Senate Committee which is investigating the question of Russian foreign propaganda that the Soviet organisations have become "strong enough to fight the world." Therefore the Soviet had ceased to urge an international revolution. He declared the Soviet Treasury is possessed of about $500,000,000 with which it now desired to purchase necessities abroad. Mr. Mariens displayed a list of about a thousand names of American business houses which he said were ready to do business with him.

PEACE TREATY COMPROMISE.

WASHINGTON, January 26th.
Mr. Taft in a reservation, declares that the United States declines to assume any obligations to preserve the territorial integrity of any other country under the provisions of Article X, or to employ the force of the United States for any purpose; but the Congress will consider and decide what moral obligation should move the United States in the interest of world-peace and justice to take action.

WASHINGTON, January 26th.
The Interparty Senatorial Conference, which assembled with the object of reaching a compromise on the Peace Treaty, broke up without having arrived at any decision after, Senator Lodge refused to accept the reservation proposed by Mr. Taft in respect to Article X.

Mr. Hitchcock announced his intention to give notice to the Senate that he will move that the Treaty be taken up on the floor of the House on February 10th.

WASHINGTON, January 27th.
Owing to Senator Hitchcock's intention to introduce the motion in the Senate to take up the Treaty the Democrats have agreed upon another inter-party meeting on January 29th.

SINN FEIN FLAG HOISTED.

LONDON, January 28th.
The Sinn Fein flag was hoisted for the first time on the Dublin City Hall on the occasion of the election of Mr. Tom Kelly, a Sinn Fein member in prison, as Lord Mayor. Cork and Waterford have also elected Sinn Fein Lord Mayors, and hoisted Republican flags on the City Halls.

LONDON, January 31st.
The military have arrested seventeen prominent Sinn Feiners in Dublin, mostly members of the new Corporation. This is apparently a sequel to the defiant flying of the Sinn Fein flag over the City Hall.

JUGO-SLAVIAN DIFFICULTIES.

LONDON, January 29th.
The Yugo-Slav reply to the Allies' ultimatum says that it cannot understand how the Treaty of London, to which Yugo-Slavia is not a party, and which was never committed to it, could be applied to Yugo-Slavia in the immediate acceptance of the Allies' proposals.

The Yugo-Slav Government cannot accept the proposals entirely, and asks permission to submit the modifications necessary to secure justice in the Adriatic. It points out that the proposals do not guarantee Italian evacuation of Fiume and Zara when these are created independent States.

It concludes by expressing its willingness to settle the difficulties in a conciliatory spirit.

MONTREAL, January 27th.
Eight were killed and many injured in a collision near North Bay, Ontario, between two sections of the Canadian Pacific Express on their way to Vancouver.

LONDON, January 30th.

It urges that there are no questions which cannot be solved by negotiations, concessions or mutual agreements.

ROMANIA.

LONDON, January 29th.
Dr. Vaidavovod, the Rumanian Premier, interviewed by Reuter in London, referred to Rumania's desire to remain in closest contact with the Allies. He said, regarding the dangers of Bolshevism: "To my knowledge, the Bolsheviks are preparing a campaign for the spring with a well-organized army trained by German officers. He said that Rumania would be very watchful and take all defence measures. He had communicated with the Supreme Council as regards the Allies establishing a sanitary cordon from the Baltic to the Black Sea to prevent the spread of disease."

FIRE ENQUIRY.

Before Mr. N. L. Smith at the Magistracy this afternoon, was held an enquiry into the circumstances attending the fire which broke out in the four-storeyed building, No. 99 Connaught Road, West, occupied by the Yue Fat Loong rice firm.

The enquiry was held on the application of the Insurance Companies, which were represented by Mr. D. J. Lewis.

Mr. A. B. Crew watched the proceedings in the interests of the Yue Loong firm.

His Worship said he was only concerned as to the circumstances of the fire, not as to the quantity of rice on the premises.

Mr. Crew said his Worship was only concerned as to whether or not it was a bona fide fire.

Mr. Lewis said his Worship had power to hold an enquiry whenever he thought it necessary.

The enquiry was not only to cover the circumstances attending the outbreak of the fire, but all the facts surrounding it.

The property contained in the building was covered by six different Insurance Companies to the extent of $39,000.

The first witness called was Ma Tau, who said he was the master of the firm. The firm occupied the whole building. Three floors were regularly on the ground floor. These were warned to take the usual precautions against fire. Rice was stored on every floor of the building. The front part of the 3rd floor was used as an office and the back part was used for storing rice. Flocks of the firm slept on every floor. The building was electrically lighted. He could not say if oil lamps were burned on the premises. He went to the shop only when he was sent for.

By Mr. Lewis—Witness was also a partner in the Ying Fook rice firm. He was the largest shareholder of the Yue Fat Loong firm. There were altogether 39 shareholders. Leng Kwan Chi was the next biggest shareholder. The enquiry is still going on.

PICTURING BRITISH INDUSTRIES.

"REVOLUTION IN CINEMA WORK."

An exhibition has been given of the latest development in the use of the cinematograph. To some people an objection to moving pictures is that they have to be shown in the dark. The Moving Picture Exhibition of British Industries, Ltd., a company which is engaged in propaganda overseas in connection with manufactures in England, have secured a screen which is non-inflammable, and can be rolled up like a window-blind for easy carriage, and enables pictures to be exhibited quite clearly in sunlight or under strong artificial light. The Central Club Hall, Clerkenwell Road, was selected for the test, because it has large skylights and strong electric lights. One film was a reproduction of a day's work in the Glasgow Herald offices, both in Scotland and in London; another a display by a Sheffield cutlery firm; a third a coloured Pathe; and all were sharply defined and did not entail strain to the eye. The intention is to take these and other trade films to France, Spain, Portugal, and South America. The descriptions are in four languages. The daylight screen will enable them to be exhibited in any sort of building at any hour of the day. The screen is a revolution in cinema work.

OBITUARY.

MR. A. W. P. SPIERS.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Alfred William Percy Spiers, from pneumonia, following influenza. Mr. Spiers was connected with the firm of Messrs. Davis and Company and had only returned to the Colony two weeks ago.

The death took place at the Government Civil Hospital, at 11.30 p.m., yesterday. Mr. Spiers who had only recently returned from Home leave, by the s.s. "Persia Maru," became ill on January 24, three days after arrival here, and went to hospital on the 31st January, where he at first made great improvement. He took a turn for the worse yesterday morning. The late Mr. Spiers was very popular with a large circle of friends. He originally arrived here towards the end of 1912 to take up an appointment with the Hongkong Electric Company, with which concern he remained until the beginning of 1917 when he joined the firm of Messrs. Davis and Company, and was a member of the staff at the time of his death. He was only 33 years of age and was a native of Staffordshire. Much sympathy will be felt for his widow. He married in England only last August. Mrs. Spiers' mother is in Hongkong. The funeral will pass the Monument at 5 p.m. to-day.

Whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever and consumption are diseases that often contract when the child has a cold. That is why all medical authorities say beware of colds. For the quick cure of colds you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.
